DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions, which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group 1, claims 61-77, are drawn to particular methods of determining the coordinates of a feature.

Group 2, claims 78-83 and 84-89, are drawn to monitoring an aircraft structure by attaching an image capturing device and a target to the aircraft structure and then using the captured images to determine magnitude and/or direction of movement of the target. Also, these claims do not require that the feature determination and positional measurement be the method described by group 1. Furthermore, claim 83 has improper multiple dependent form and thus the limitation of claim 83 that the apparatus uses the method of claim 61 is not being considered.

2. The inventions listed as Groups 1-2 do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the reasons listed above.

3. This application contains claims (the claims of Group 1 indicated above) directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1. If the invention(s) of Group 1 are selected then one of the following species need also be selected.

The species are as follows:

Species 1 describes a method for determining the coordinates of a feature in an image and wherein the feature is identified in a second image and a difference or comparison of these positions is performed.

Species 2 describes a method of determining the coordinates of feature in an image, and further requires that the determining be done by correlation of the feature with the image containing at a plurality of pixel positions. See paragraph 0008 of the disclosure.

Species 3 describes a method of determining coordinates wherein an additional coordinate is calculated providing a 3rd dimension using the known relationship between two image capture devices (parallax between stereo imaging devices). See paragraphs 0018-0019 of the disclosure.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Art Unit: 2624

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

4. The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

Species 1: claims 65 and 68-72

Species 2: claims 62-64, 66, and 77

Species 3: claims 73-75

Claims 61 and 67 are considered generic.

5. The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The different species do not overlap in scope, they are mutually exclusive, and have materially different designs and modes of operation.
